

Website Launch

Easily Find and Learn about our Ministry

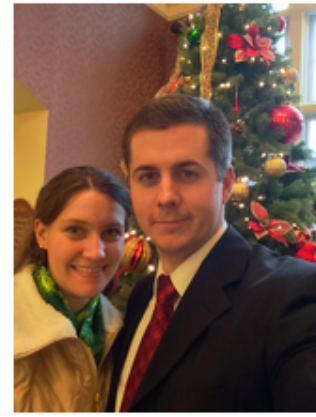

Just a few weeks ago, I was finally able to launch our website (www.grace2russia.org). This was a childhood dream come true. With the "dotcom" explosion in the early 90s and being an adolescent geek, I really wanted to figure out how to have my own website. I took classes in highschool that taught me how to use HTML, but it wasn't until recently that I actually had a purpose worthy of the money to host and time to create a full-blown website. We really hope that you will visit our website and give us some feedback. It is our desire to display for others the ministry that God has called us to and you can help just by sharing your opinion.

Please pray for Vivian. She has been under the weather recently with congestion, some Thrush, and some abdominal discomfort. Thankfully she has health insurance and could be seen. We would appreciate your prayers for our little daughter.

Would you like to receive news about our progress a little closer to real-time? Just visit our Facebook Page by searching for Grace2Russia and clicking Like. You will see our picture and logo on the page. We look forward to sharing with you our progress toward the field.

We hope you had a wonderful Christmas and Happy New Year! (Behind us is not the "Russian" Christmas tree that we decorated - for those of you who follow us on Facebook. It is a nice tree at the retirement center that we ministry at.)

Booking Meetings

Calling to Find Missions-Minded Churches

Currently, we're in full-swing, calling churches to find out if they have a heart for missions. We are open to visiting just to gain prayer support; we would like to present to the churches that cannot support us at this time. Prayer is so very important. Meeting the people of God and inspiring them toward greater faith and intercessory prayer is one of the benefits to deputation.

Making phone calls from a stack of databases is the primary way to schedule times that we can present at a church. I never knew that data-crunching was part of being a missionary, but someday I'll meet someone who is smarter than I and can write a set of algorithms or something that can organize and streamline everything - making deputation for every Baptist missionary that much easier!

We've already had the opportunity to meet a few very nice pastors on the phone. Even though support is not an option at this point for them, having our calls returned and getting the chance to talk with encouraging men of God helps the process seem less discouraging. One cannot have too many Godly friends.

"Yea, so have I strived to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build upon another man's foundation: But as it is written, To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see: and they that have not heard shall understand." - Romans 15:20-21
